

Watch Judging Schedule

Year : 2005

Computer Generated by John Philip Downing

Introduction

Watch consists of 25 companies performing a total of 98 shows. A given company will put on between 2 and 7 shows. Each show will be judged (viewed) by a total of 10 judges. Thus there are a total of 980 viewings for the entire year. Thus each company's judging team will be responsible for 39 or 40 viewings. As much as possible, the viewings should be balanced among the different companies in all respects, with the provision that none of the viewings may be done by the judging team of the company that put on the show.

It will be noted that if each company's judging team views each of the other shows once, the team will view between 91 and 96 shows. Since this is more than 39-40, many viewings must be eliminated. This procedure has been automated.

The assignments of the viewings by each judge in a team was done by computer. Since it was easier to recognize a good schedule than to create one, a reasonably large number (500000) of schedules were generated at random for each group and the best one chosen.
